PRODUCT DISCOVERY:

SADBOC (Small and Disadvantaged Business Opportunity) held their yearly meeting last June. I was able to attend this great networking group's expo in Denver for the fourth year in a row. This year I met Rae Ann Dougherty with Wowgreen products that are completely safe for you, your family, and your pets. The Wowgreen secret to a safe, green clean is enzymes. What are enzymes? Enzymes are naturally occurring molecules that work as catalysts to break down organic materials. When you apply Wowgreen to a target stain or area, it allows the enzyme formula to surround the dirt or grime. This breaking down process only takes about a minute to work and then you simply wipe or scrub it away. I have just started to use her products and I plan to order more. I am amazed at how long these products last.

Feel free to email Rae Ann Dougherty about Wowgreen with any questions you might have or you can visit www.WowGreen.net/CleaningProducts and (give her Id# 10911). If you talk to her, tell her you saw this in the Rag Lady News.

I took a weekend off to go to Strawberry Days in Glenwood Springs in June. I visited a booth that sold reusable bags. Rodney was so helpful and believes in his product just like I do with my recycled rags. The bags are called 4 ever bags. www.4everbags.org I brought six bags just for my grocery shopping I also take them to the local farmers market. The bags can be stuffed into another attached pouch that is great to leave in the car. They are made of washable water repellent material to avoid bacteria and foul odors. The bags have triple-stitched seams and hold up to 60 lbs. They are very durable.

Hi Shelley,

The microfiber rags should be called miracle rags because I can clean my whole house, and car, inside and out with one rag and very little, if any cleaning chemicals.

Whether it's dusting, polishing, washing windows, scrubbing bathrooms, or really dirty jobs, microfibers does it all.

After the job is done, the rags are laundered in hot water and are as good as new.
